

Question 1

Which of the following statements most accurately describes the relationship between verbal and nonverbal behavior?

- A) Warmth, empathy, and caring are communicated verbally, whereas assertiveness and management are communicated nonverbally.
- B) Verbal and nonverbal behavior are two different channels of communication and one has little effect on the other.
- C) Affective factors are primarily communicated verbally, while cognitive factors are primarily communicated nonverbally.
- D) The credibility of a message is communicated more strongly through the nonverbal than through the verbal channel of communication.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634971>

Question 2

Describe four common challenges you're likely to face as a first-year teacher.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=635465>

Question 3

Of the following, which is the most important suggestion for thriving in your first year of teaching?

- A) To recharge your batteries, take some personal time for yourself, including taking a day off from school now and then.
- B) Spend your planning time preparing motivating and meaningful lessons for your students.
- C) Focus your efforts primarily on the most unruly students in your classes, and develop a system to ensure that you are able to manage their behavior.
- D) Remember that you're part of a large team, which includes administrators, other faculty, and support staff, and attempt to work collegially with them.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=635447>

Question 4

Jana Juarez illustrates dominant and recessive genes by playing two radios simultaneously. The students can hear one but not the other. As Jana questions the students, she reminds them that both radios are playing, but the sound of one drowns out the other.

Jana's ability to represent a topic like genetics in this way best illustrates:

- A) knowledge of learners and learning.
- B) knowledge of content.
- C) general pedagogical knowledge.
- D) pedagogical content knowledge.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=633743>

Question 5

Reading, writing, and math are the most strongly emphasized areas of the curriculum in elementary schools. Of the following, which is the most likely reason for this emphasis?

- A) Reading, writing, and math are the areas in which students are most commonly tested.
- B) Reading, writing, and particularly math, are the curriculum areas elementary teachers most enjoy teaching.
- C) Most teachers philosophically believe that reading, writing, and math are the most important areas of the curriculum.
- D) Reading, writing, and math are the areas in which the most hands-on learning activities can be done.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634807>

Question 6

Which of the following statements best describes the relationship between classroom management and the development of learner responsibility?

- A) Development of learner responsibility is possible with high achievers but not with low achievers.
- B) Development of learner responsibility is not related to classroom management
- C) Development of learner responsibility is part of classroom discipline but not classroom management.
- D) Development of learner responsibility is an important goal for well-managed classrooms.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634881>

Question 7

Tim prepared his vignette because he believed that the description of New Stone Age people as presented in his students' textbooks was too abstract to be meaningful. Of the following, which best describes the type of knowledge on which Tim's belief was primarily based?

- A) His general pedagogical knowledge
- B) His pedagogical content knowledge
- C) His knowledge of content
- D) His knowledge of learners and learning

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=633749>

Question 8

Which of the following best describes the concept certification?

- A) The process states use to ensure that teachers meet professional standards
- B) The process of gathering information and providing feedback that teachers can use to improve their instruction
- C) Recognition by a professional organization indicating that an individual has met requirements specified by the organization
- D) Information about teachers' competence that is gathered for the purpose of making administrative decisions about retention and promotion

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=635483>

Question 9

Of the following, which group most strongly influences the quality of a school?

- A) Teachers
- B) School boards
- C) Administrators
- D) School advisory councils

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634351>

Question 10

Pedro is a boy living in a small Mexican village. Every day he rises early, for he must walk the two miles to his school. He has breakfast of beans and bread made from ground corn, leaves the house and begins his trek. He likes the walk for he can wave to his papa toiling daily in the cornfields that provide the food and income for the family.

When Pedro comes home from school he often plays soccer with his friends in the village, and after dinner his mother usually plays songs on a guitar while papa sings.

The activities Pedro is involved in, such as playing soccer and listening to his mother and father play and sing best illustrate which of the following?

- A) His culture
- B) Stereotype threat
- C) Accommodation without assimilation
- D) His ethnicity

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=633941>

Question 11

Explain how the federal government, the states, and local districts, respectively each influence teachers and education. Provide an example to illustrate each.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634655>

Question 12

You as a regular classroom teacher have three important responsibilities in working with students who have exceptionalities. Which one below is not one of those responsibilities?

- A) Modifying their instruction to best meet the needs of students with exceptionalities in their classes
- B) Assisting in identifying students who may need additional help
- C) Encouraging acceptance of all students in their classes
- D) Specifying the number of learners with exceptionalities who will be in their classes

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634087>

Question 13

The assimilation movement in education was most strongly attempted with:

- A) Native American students.
- B) African American students.
- C) Hispanic students.
- D) Asian American students.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634191>

Question 14

You're an 8th-grade math teacher. Of the following, the best example of an intellectual reward in teaching is likely to be:

- A) a high school senior coming back to visit you.
- B) receiving a salary supplement for sponsoring the school's math club.
- C) having one of your students come up to you and say, "I used to hate math, but now I really like it."
- D) seeing students successfully predict the next number in the sequence 1, 1, 2, 3, 5, 8 . . .

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=633712>

Question 15

A plan created for every student having an exceptionality that includes an assessment of the student's current level of performance, objectives, strategies to ensure that the student is making academic progress, schedules for implementing the plan, and criteria for evaluating the plan's success is called a(n):

- A) program for academic success.
- B) individualized education program.
- C) special needs outline.
- D) exceptionalities development program.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634075>

Question 16

Policies that specify limitations on the use of print, video, and software materials are best described as:

- A) fair use guidelines.
- B) copyright laws.
- C) academic freedom.
- D) academic principles.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634683>

Question 17

A considerable amount of research has examined student achievement in charter schools compared to comparable public schools. Describe the most significant finding of this research.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=635241>

Question 18

Of the following, what is the most likely cause of gender-role identity?

- A) It is the result of gender-specific treatment during infancy, resulting in behavioral traits that endure throughout life.
- B) It is primarily environment, resulting from different treatment by parents, peers, and teachers.
- C) It is a combination of genetics and environment, with both contributing in varying degrees.
- D) It is primarily determined by genetics, which determines not only physical characteristics but also factors such as temperament and verbal ability.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634017>

Question 19

Of the following, which statement most accurately compares the teenage birthrate in the United States to that in other industrialized countries?

- A) The teenage birthrate in the United States is about the same as the teenage birthrate in other industrialized countries.
- B) The teenage birthrate in the United States is higher than in any other industrialized country.
- C) The teenage birthrate in the United States is slightly lower (about 10% lower) than the teenage birthrate in other industrialized countries.
- D) The teenage birthrate in the United States is much lower (about half) than the teenage birthrate in other industrialized countries.

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=633803>

Question 20

Which of the following best describes the explicit curriculum?

- A) What students learn that is found in their textbooks
- B) What students learn as communicated through the kinds of routines teachers establish
- C) What students learn in clubs and organizations (such as a science club)
- D) What students learn through the ways teachers interact with them

Answer: <https://biology-forums.com/index.php?topic=634754>